We will have a test lab at MUD2024 with some bleeding edge test equipment.

The final list is still being worked out.

If you are planning to bring some filters or LNA's or other gear to the event for testing please send us an email to mud2024@wcwsa.ca with title TEST LAB.

Please let us know what you are bringing and what test you are hoping for us to do so we do our best to have the equipment and adapters ready for you.

The plan is you drop the gear off on Friday at lunch with what tests you want and the Test Team who is not attending the conference will do the testing while you attend the conference.

There will be a window when you can pick up the equipment and in some circumstances chat with the equipment vendors and witness some testing.

I look forward to the emails.

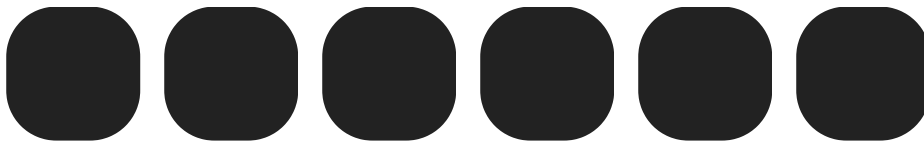

Thanks
